Art Unit: 1636

The previous restriction requirement is hereby VACATED, as having been based upon the wrong claim set, and is replaced by the following:

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 15, 41-59, 70-91, 94, 97-103 and 109-114, drawn to a method of determining the function of a nucleic acid, classified in class 435, subclass 6.
- II. Claims 60-64, 92, 93, 95, 96, 104 and 106-108, drawn to a method of making a library, classified in class 435, subclass 456.
- III. Claims 65-69, drawn to a method of amplifying a nucleic acid from a library, classified in class 435, subclass 91.2.
- IV. Claims 105 and 115, drawn to a library, classified in class 435, subclass 235.1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions of Groups IV and I are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product library may be used for amplification of a member clone.

Inventions of Groups II and IV are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case a library of naturally isolated members, e.g., viruses, could be assembled.

Inventions of Groups IV and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product library may be used to express a member nucleic acid.

Inventions of Groups I and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are drawn to statutorily separate classes, i.e., a method of using and a method of making.

Inventions of Groups I and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are drawn to different modes of operation and different functions. Group II uses gene expression to express a nucleic acid or detect said nucleic acid. Group IV uses amplification of the nucleic acid or the virus containing it to obtain more of said nucleic acid or said virus.

Inventions of Groups II and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are drawn to statutorily separate classes, i.e., a method of making and a method of using.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, and because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
